“I am a Professor of physics and I worked for several years in the defense industry in Israel, in projects that are still the cutting edge technologies of the defence of the State of Israel.”

“When I look at what happened on Motzai Shabbat, [April 13-14] on a scientific level – it simply cannot happen!! Statistically.”

“The likelihood that everything, but really **Everything** works out, does not exist in complex systems like the defense systems that were used to defend Israel from the massive Iranian attack.”

“These systems have never, **but never**, not only in the State of Israel, been tried in real time!!”

“I took a pencil and dived into the calculations to check the statistic probability that such a result would materialize.”

“The large number of events that had to be handled, when each missile or UAV is handled independently (that is, human error or some deviation of one operation, is not offset by other successful operations), compounds the chance of making a mistake.”

“With all the high technologies, a breach was expected in the defense of the skies of the State of Israel.”

“Even if we got 90% protection it would have been a miracle!!”

“What happened is that everyone, but everyone – the pilots, the systems operators and the technology operators acted as one man, at one moment in total unity.

If this is not an act of G-d, then I no longer know what a miracle is.”

“I thank our friends for supporting Israel’s defense—support both in words and in deeds,” Netanyahu said ahead of a Cabinet meeting in Jerusalem. “They also have all kinds of suggestions and advice. I appreciate those, but I want to make it clear: We will make our own decisions, and the State of Israel will do everything necessary to defend itself,” he added.

Senior Hamas official Khalil al-Hayya, the Deputy Chairman of Hamas in Gaza, recently stated in an interview with the Associated Press that the terror group is willing to agree to a five-year ceasefire with Israel.

Saying that Israel is unable to defeat Hamas, al-Hayya said Hamas would agree to lay down its arms in exchange for a “fully sovereign” Palestinian state in the 1967 borders and the return of Palestinian refugees.

“We have repeatedly offered the establishment of a fully sovereign Palestinian state in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip and the return of refugees in accordance with international resolutions that have emerged in this regard,” al-Hayya told the AP.

“We will live in a state and establish and agree on a ceasefire and a truce of five years or more in order to live in security,” al-Hayya continued. He appeared to claim that Hamas would dissolve its military wing, if these conditions were met.

Palestine, with its historical known borders from Jordan's river in the east to the mediterranean sea in the west, from Ras Al Nakora in the north to Om Al Rashrash in the south, this land is Palestinian and a united regional unit. Displacing Palestinians and creating a Zionist entity does not cancel the right of Palestinians to their entire land, and does not validate the Zionist entity to violate this land.
